

A method for adhering and proliferating cell, which comprises the steps of inoculating, culturing and then killing fibroblast derived from a mammal, is provided. A culture vessel manufactured according to the steps of the method which can provide improved adhesion to cell and enhanced cell-proliferation is also provided.

[illegible]